In Ulyanovsk Region, probe launched in negligence of officials who failed to prevent conflict of college students

The Ulyanovsk Region investigating bodies of the Russia's Investigative Committee have opened a criminal investigation in negligence of officials that provoked a conflict between students of a technical secondary school (part 1 of article 293 of the RF Penal Code).

According to investigators, the officials of the Karsun Technical Secondary School located in the village of Karsun, Ulyanovsk Region, failed to discharge their duties properly. As a result, three female students of the school beat up an underage first-year student in the dormitory on 11 January 2016.

At present, investigative operations are underway to find out all the details of the incident, students and teachers of the school are being questioned. The investigation is ongoing.
