
Kaluga Region Office of Investigative Committee looking into murder of unidentified man (photo)

A metallic barrel with closed lid with burned human remains inside was found buried in the ground in a forest in Iznoski District, Kaluga Region on 19 October 2016. The Kaluga Region Office of the RF Investigative Committee has opened an investigation in a crime under Part 1 of Article 105 of the RF Penal Code (murder).

A 39-year-old man, who used to live in Iznoski District, has been detained on suspicion of the crime. The man was held in Moscow, where he lives now. The suspect denies any involvement, however investigators have the evidence against him and have charged him with murder. The investigators believe that the murder took place in December 2010 and the motive might have been that the victim had had a large sum of money on him. After the murder, the killer tried to get rid of the body by burning it and put the remains in the metallic barrel. He then buried it in the forest not far from the settlement of Myatlevo, Iznoski District.

The victim is not identified. It is possible that his name is Dmitry. The investigators also have the victim's photo. The man (on the photo) is about 30 years old, about 190 cm high, thin, with dark short hair. In 2010, before going missing, he had lived in the city of Moscow or Moscow Region. The Kaluga Office of the Investigative Committee asks anybody who have any information on the victim to call: 8(484-34) 3-37-24, 8-906-645-33-28.

Investigative operations are underway to find out all the circumstances of the crime, possible witnesses are being questioned, forensic inquiries have been assigned, including a psychiatric one and a DNA test of the remains. The investigation is ongoing.

02 November 2016

Page address: <https://en.sledcom.ru/news/item/1077910>