Two men found guilty of facilitating terrorist activities in Moscow Region

Evidence collected by Moscow Main Investigations Directorate of the Investigative Committee of the Russian Federation was found by court to be sufficient to sentence Konstantin Kagermazov and Andemir Mankaduev. They were found guilty of committing an offence under Part 1 of Article 205.1 of the Criminal Code of Russia (financing terrorism).

Investigation and the court established that during the period from 2015 to 2019 Andemir and Kostantin entered a group in one of mobile applications used by Alim Begiev being an organizer of financing terrorism in Moscow Region to invite entrusted persons who agreed to finance a banned terrorist organization in Syria and Iraq. The group had been joined by approximately 30 participants. The participants had been collecting money on their bank card accounts and transferred it to the accounts of persons taking part in combats as participants of the illegal armed group. The indicated money was used for logistics support of terrorist organisation units.
