
Alexander Bastrykin requests a report on progress of investigation into non-payment of wages by direction of Omichka Volleyball Club

The Chairman of the Investigative Committee of Russia Alexander Bastrykin instructed his subordinates to report on investigative actions performed in relation to a probe previously launched into non-payment of wages by direction of Omichka Volleyball Club.

A number of mass media reported that a day before the court rejected investigative motion to keep in custody the Omsk ex-minister of youth, physical culture and sports accused if non-payment of wages.

The head of the Committee instructed investigators to report on investigative actions carried out under the probe and highlighted necessity to take a set of measures aimed to restore violated rights of victims.
