The Program "Investigative". Who can become a victim of a cybercrime?

Modern technology has not only made our lives more comfortable, but has also become a source of new social challenges. After all, while for law-abiding citizens digitalization has become a good tool for self-development, the perpetrators use scientific and technological progress for personal and, as a rule, illegal earnings. Victims are ordinary citizens, including children and pensioners. Experts of our program, devoted to cybercrime, tell us how to protect themselves and their loved ones from the actions of online attackers.
