In the Moscow Region, the acting head of the temporary isolator was charged with abuse of authority and subjected to preventive measure

The Moscow Main Investigative Department of the Investigative Committee of Russia pressed charges against acting head of the temporary isolator of Istra Department of the Ministry of Internal Affairs. He is accused of abuse of authority (Paragraph C of Part 3 of Article 286 of the Criminal Code of Russia) that led to break-out of 5 persons.

According to investigators, the acting head of the detention center instructed his subordinates to place the defendants in the same criminal case together in the same cell. Thus, they had the opportunity to communicate with each other, to work out the position of their defense in order to complicate the course of the criminal investigation and later its consideration in court, as well as to develop a plan to commit a crime - escape from custody. Alexander Mavridi was also illegally placed into this sell. In addition, the defendant allowed the so-called "feeders" - cell doors for food transfers - to be left open.

The officer fully admitted his guilt during interrogation. The court chose a preventive measure
