
The Chairman of the Investigative Committee of Russia instructed to check information about possible fraudulent actions against an elderly musician

It was reported on a federal channel that an 84-year-old jazz musician lost his apartment in Moscow as a result of alleged fraud by a "black realtor" who had signed an annuity agreement with his deceased wife.

The Chairman of the Investigative Committee of Russia instructed the head of the Main Investigative Committee of Russia for Moscow A.A. Strizhov to verify the information voiced in the broadcast and report on the situation.
