The Chairman of the Investigative Committee of Russia visited the Skolkovo Family Upbringing Support Center and wished the children and teachers a Happy New Year

Despite his busy schedule, Chairman of the Investigative Committee of the Russian Federation Alexander Bastrykin personally visited the Skolkovo Family Upbringing Center. Such warm friendly meetings with children and employees of the institution have become a good New Year's tradition, because for several years the officers of the department and the center are linked by ties of strong friendship.

Within the walls of "Skolkovo" reigns a family atmosphere, so even the children who are deprived of parental care, feel comfortable and cozy here. These days all the kids are getting ready for the main holiday. In the pre-holiday rush they were very pleased with the arrival of the officers of the Investigative Committee of Russia, who brought New Year presents.

Alexander Bastrykin talked to the students and staff of the center, asked about the pressing problems, inquired about the new opportunities of the institution. Management and teachers of "Skolkovo" thanked the head of the IC of Russia for the attention, noting that thanks to all-round support the institution is developing. Today, the center is equipped with modern equipment, simulators, game rooms, which makes it possible to provide assistance not only to children, but also to parents of children with special needs. All of them visit "Skolkovo" with great pleasure, knowing that their problems will not be ignored here.

The Chairman of IC of Russia congratulated everybody with the upcoming holidays - the New Year and Christmas. He wished first of all health, welfare and joy. The IC of Russia will continue to provide assistance to the center on a regular basis, because it is important for every child to feel care and attention.
