
Chairman of the IC of Russia Supports Idea of Future Creation of Tribunal to Evaluate Ukrainian Regime's Crimes in Donbass

Officials of the Lugansk People's Republic speak about the need to hold a tribunal for war crimes of the Ukrainian regime in Donbass and express their readiness to create it.

The Chairman of the Russian IC has supported this initiative of LPR representatives, noting that the Investigative Committee of Russia has been documenting all illegal actions of the Armed Forces of Ukraine and other Ukrainian nationalist military formations against the civilian population of Donbass for eight years. Each instance is given a legal evaluation.

The IC of Russia continues to collect and consolidate evidence of crimes against the peace and security of mankind committed by officials of Ukrainian defense and law enforcement agencies. The investigators carefully document all the episodes of Kiev's criminal actions against civilians. A lot of work has already been done.

In the future, the evidence collected by the Russian investigators will be presented to the public, and the persons involved in committing these crimes will definitely face trial.
