
The Investigative Committee of Russia will analyze the information of American journalists when investigating the crimes committed by the Armed Forces of Ukraine

The Investigative Committee of Russia will consider the information provided by American journalists within the investigation of crimes committed by the Armed Forces of Ukraine members.

One US public-source published a material that concludes that the armed formations of Ukraine used the banned cluster munitions. The representatives of the foreign media discovered the fragments of such munitions, presumably they came out from the multiple-launch rocket systems in the Gusarovka settlement of Kharkov region.

This information will be carefully analyzed, as well as it will be compared with the existing data associated with the such weapons use by the Ukrainian nationalists in other settlements.
