Since 2009, residents of Kurgan Oblast have been living in an uninhabitable apartment building, which was recognized as emergency only in 2017, and as a subject to demolition and resettlement. However, residential premises have not yet been provided to residents of 36 apartments, since the decision to recognize the house as emergency was made untimely by local authorities, which did not allow this house to be included in the next program for the resettlement of citizens from emergency housing stock for 2019-2025. At the same time, living in such a house creates a constant threat to both the residents and passers-by.

Mr. B.V. Francishko, Head of the Investigative Directorate of the Russian Investigative Committee for Kurgan Oblast, reported that the procedural inspection was initiated immediately after the citizens applied for the restoration of their rights and legitimate interests. Based on its results, a criminal case was launched in accordance with Part 1, Article 293 of the Criminal Code of the Russian Federation (negligence) against the Officials of the Kurgan city Administration.

At the reception, it was found that the mentioned case is not an isolated one, in connection with which Mr. A.I. The Chairman of the Russian Investigative Committee instructed to schedule a second meeting with citizens who applied for the reception in a month.

The applicants stated that they lived in an emergency building, where the electrical wiring was faulty, bricks from the outer masonry were falling out, and mold had appeared on the walls due to dampness. In 2016, a major overhaul of the house was allegedly carried out at the expense of the Regional Overhaul Fund, but living in it still poses a threat. In addition, the citizens explained that the Investigating Authorities had repeatedly refused to launch a criminal case.

people not only with the collapse of roofs from snow, but also causes diseases due to the low temperature in buildings; house depreciation is 79%. These houses were recognized as emergency in 2020 and the houses were recognized as subject to demolition, however, such decisions were made by the local administration untimely, and they did not allow the houses to be included in the next resettlement program, the situation is similar to that discussed above in Kurgan Oblast.
