
Commission sent to Krasnoyarsk territory to check progress of investigation of criminal case over lecherous actions to 11-year old girl

On instructions of the Chairman of the Russian Investigative Committee a group consisting of the central office's employees has been sent to check the progress of investigation into lecherous actions over an 11-year old girl in Central district of Krasnoyarsk.

The group has instructions to study carefully the files of the case, to check legality of investigative actions, as well as the legality of restraint of putting the accused into custody. In addition, the employees of the central office intend to study all arguments of the applicant party on the spot, and to get the relevant information from them personally.

The results of the check will be reported to the chairman.

11 May 2012

Page address: <https://en.sledcom.ru/news/item/509393>