a doctor, a teacher, an engineer. But many of you will of course select the honorable profession of a lawyer, will be working as investigators, solving the hardest crimes, ensuring protection of the law, asserting principles of kindness and justice. I am sure that many of you will be willing to continue your education and become employees of the Russia's Investigative Committee”.

This year it is the 12th graduation from the Cadet School. In all, over ten years, the Cadet School trained and graduated 920 boys and girls, including with gold medals for excellent studies 20; with silver – 23 (3 gold medals and 1 silver medal in 2015). 97% of the graduates continue their education in universities of the Russian Federation. During the study special attention is paid to raising patriotism, readiness to defend the country, improved physical fitness, ensuring intellectual, cultural and moral development, building commitment to the duty, discipline, conscientious attitude to studies, desire to master the profession of an investigator and raising respect to state service.
